

PROJECT DESCRIPTION: (use space below)

Explain what the project involves in terms of type of goods or services that will be provided and a specific breakdown of the types of jobs that will be created (e.g. production, sales, administrative, research, maintenance, etc.), at the proposed location / address, if this RSP is approved.

Reference the factors that are driving growth and expansion of the business and explain why the company is making new investments and creating new jobs.

Describe whether the investment (where applicable) involves the purchase of a new building, renovations to an existing building, purchase of new production or operating equipment, property purchase, etc.

Provide a thorough explanation that will establish the basis for determining the feasibility of the job creation projections. For example, the company may have recently landed a new five-year contract with a major customer that will increase sales and require significant capital investments. As a result, the company must double existing production capacity, increase production line workers and create administrative jobs to support the increased production.
