

Fleet Week College Fair

Attention: Active duty service members, reservists, veterans, and their families.

The Fleet Week College Fair will present military service members, veterans, and their families with opportunities to pursue higher education. Veteran-friendly colleges and universities from the five boroughs and beyond will give information on undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Information sessions will focus on:

- using the G.I. Bill;
- applying to secondary and graduate education programs;
- preparing for academic pursuits;
- finding support services that will ease the transition to college life.
- Commissioner Loree Sutton of the New York City Department of Veterans Services will conduct a “veterans’ corner” discussion on support services and her department, which is newly established.

Organizations including FourBlock, Edge4Vets, Service to School, American Corporate Partners, and Veterans on Campus NYC will share information about their services for veterans.

Enjoy a barbecue, refreshments, and outdoor entertainment.

Transportation will be provided for Fleet Week Sailors and Marines from Pier 86 and Staten Island.
