TRAVEL TIPS

New timetables for all branches will be in effect this summer, beginning July 10. Regular schedules will resume on Tuesday, September 5. We're here to help you in light of Amtrak's forced summer service cuts at Penn Station.

- Plan ahead. Review alternate transportation options online in advance of your commute at www.mta.info/lirr; visit www.511ny.org for updates on highway and transit conditions.
- Ride during the 'shoulder' of Peak travel periods (i.e., the start or end) for greater seat availability.
- If you have the option, avoid rush hour travel altogether, if you're not traveling for work.
- Sign up for MTA eAlerts/text messages at www.mymtaalerts.com, follow @LIRR on Twitter, or sign up for the LIRR's Train Time® app.
- Look for LIRR timetables dated July 10, 2017, which will be available as the start of the summer work draws near.
- Call the LIRR's Customer Service Center at 511 or 718-217-LIRR.
- Listen to radio and TV traffic reports for updates.

We regret this inconvenience. Thank you for your patience and understanding this summer.

NEW SUMMER SCHEDULES
EFFECTIVE JULY 10TH

Plan ahead. Use the scheduling tool at <http://lirr42.mta.info/> and change the date to July 10 to find your new commute.

MTA Long Island Rail Road service will be modified this summer because Amtrak, which owns and operates Penn Station, will be taking tracks out of service to make critical repairs. The resulting reduction in Penn Station capacity is expected to impact trains between Monday, July 10 and Friday, September 1; some trains will be cancelled, some will be diverted to alternate locations, and others will have revised stopping patterns.

LIRR is adding and lengthening trains to boost capacity, and offering a special fare reduction of up to 25% off the normal ticket price for customers who avoid Penn Station by traveling to key transfer points. We're also offering alternate transportation to LIRR ticket holders including free bus service, and free morning rush hour subway transfers at key locations. Find the map in this edition of TrainTalk. Go to www.mta.info/lirr for more details.
