About Nassau County Office for the Aging

Nassau County Office for the Aging Mission

- Identify needs and gaps in service
- Develop, coordinate, and implement services to meet identified needs
- Enable senior citizens to live safely in their homes and communities, thereby avoiding or delaying institutionalization or hospitalization
- Maximize senior citizens independence

Nassau County Office for the Aging Background

- Created in 1969 under the Older Americans Act
- Designated Area Agency on Aging
- There is no fee for programs under the Older Americas Act
- Programs and services for well/active seniors, frail/homebound, and Caregivers

Nassau County Office for the Aging is the official Area Agency on Aging for Nassau County. The office develops a county-wide plan to provide services that assist older persons to remain independent and living in their own homes for as long as possible. The Office also serves as a funding agency for programs offered by other voluntary and government agencies. It provides more than 70 programs to improve the quality of life for older persons. The Office also serves as an advocate for the elderly.

The Office operates one five-day-a-week multi-purpose community center. In cooperation with local community agencies, the Office maintains 13 additional senior centers, which provide daily hot lunches and social and recreational programs, four adult day services centers, and eight senior lunch programs.

Nassau County made a commitment more than thirty years ago when it became one of the first county governments in the nation to establish a county agency dedicated to providing programs and services for the over 60 population. As the designated Area Agency on Aging for Nassau County under the federal Older Americans Act, with additional support from the New York State Office for the Aging and Nassau County, Office for the Aging empowers older persons to live more independently in their own homes and communities.
